Mountain View Systems Wins 2007 Redmond Magazine Readers' Choice Award

April 2, 2007, Fort Collins, CO – Mountain View Systems, LLC won the 2007 Redmond Magazine Readers' Choice Award for "Preferred Product" in the category "Best Windows Certification-based Boot Camp". The 2007 Redmond Magazine Readers' Choice Awards and Preferred Product awards, which appear in the April issue, are presented to vendors in 45 different categories of product.

First, the Readers' Choice survey form is sent out to thousands of readers. Responses are collected during a two-week period in January. After gathering all the results, a team of editors examines the rankings looking for any unusual patterns. Once they're satisfied that the list is a clean and accurate representation of our readers' true favorites, we post the results.

The award continues a trend forged by loyal Mountain View Systems' boot camp alumni, who helped MVS earn 2006 Windows IT Pro Readers' Choice Awards in two categories: "Best Boot Camp" and "Best Instructor-Led Training". Mountain View Systems also received the "Best Boot Camp" award in 2005.

"One of the best technical training classes I have ever attended, boot camp or otherwise. If you can swing a place in one of their Microsoft boot camps, I say go for it..." said Bill Peebles, Boot Camp Critic for Certification Magazine. "I give it an enthusiastic two thumbs up!"
